

Firefighting Equipment

ENGINE and engine products distributor Goscor Power Products (GPP) has expanded its firefighting equipment range and has reduced its prices by up to 20%. "The excellent demand for our [firefighting equipment] has enabled us to buy more competitively through increased bulk purchases and we are passing this advantage on to our customers," says GPP GM Mark Bester. The new range includes an entry-level low-pressure unit, a medium-pressure unit designed for forestry applications, and a high-pressure unit that is suitable for driving two hose reels.
