

New pump series

The PTX series of Subaru pumps launched by Goscor Power Products, suited for use in agriculture, includes a two inch model (PTX 220) and three inch option (PTX 320).

Powered by the new EX-series engine, the pumps utilise overhead cam technology. Some important features include:

An oil sensor operating as a low-level cut-out mechanism to prevent engine seizure;

A crank case, ribbed inside and out, to help transfer heat from inside the engine to the outside. The engine runs 30% cooler, thereby maintaining the protective ability of the oil for longer and lengthening the engine's life span;

A specially constructed cover over the fly-wheel helps to cool the engine;

A new L-shaped conrod oil pickup lubricates the timing chain which, in turn, lubricates the valves and upper part of the engine;

More powerful engines – 4,5 HP for the PTX 220 and 6 HP for the PTX 320.

According to national sales manager Mr Mark Bester this extra power has significant advantages.

"The pumps are more efficient and the increased power adds to the durability and longevity of the engine. The engines have fewer parts which means lower wear and tear and less that can go wrong," he says.

Goscor offers an extended three year warranty on the engine."
