

New Unilever facility to have Goscor equipment

Unilever has chosen to use Goscor Lift Truck Company (GLTC), South African materials handling equipment (MHE) business. 'We're in the process of building a new factory and we assessed our material handling equipment (MHE) requirements,' says Unilever's engineering manager Doug de Bruyn. 'We assessed the product offering, capital cost, maintenance support, additional value-adds and the total life-cycle cost, and could not justify moving away from our current long-time supplier (Goscor) for the new facility.'

<http://pharmacos.imix.co.za/96567>

